

Bullying Movie Task

Using the information, we have collated over the past 2 health lessons, you and your assigned group will create a short movie showing viewers the impact that bullying has on student learning at school, the class and the broader school community. If you find that you are missing some information, you have some time to research the outcomes of bullying behavior. Using the checklist below, you will need to provide me with a script that is created on Microsoft word, and an edited movie created on iMovie. Your movie will have to show both what is the impact of bullying occurring, and the difference it has on students when bullying is not happening at school.

This will be due at the end of week 9.

- Create a written script for all group members. Use Microsoft word for this.
- Film the negative impact of bullying occurring at school.
- Film the positive impact of bullying not occurring in school.
- Collate the small clips that you wish to keep.
- Edit and put together your movie using iMovie.
- Have credits at the end.
- Write up a reflection on the assignment. This can be delivered to me as a written document either in your books or typed up or you may deliver it to me orally.
- Post your final video on the class seesaw for members and families of our class to see.
